NINETEEN KILLED, 2 SAVED IN MINE EXPLOSION

PITTSBURGH TERMINAL CO.

MINE WRECKED

EXPLOSION IS AFTERMATH OF
FIRE IN BUTT
NO. 15
CUTTING MACHINE BROKE THRU
VEIN INTO A GAS
POCKET

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Important mine disasters in the bituminous fields of west Pennsylvania in the last 25 years: Shankstown, Jan. 26, 1924, 33 killed. Brownsville, Feb. 21, 1922, 25 killed. Spangler, Nov. 6, 1922, 77 killed. Marianna, Washington county, Nov. 28, 1908, 154 killed. Jacob's Creek, between Fayette and Westmoreland counties, Dec. 19, 1907, 239 killed. Harwick Mines, Cheswick, Jan. 25, 1904, 179 killed. Johnstown, July 19, 1902, 12 killed.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Death has again claimed its grim toll in a mine disaster and today 19 men are dead following an explosion that wrecked Butt No. 15 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Co.'s Mine No. 4 at Horning.

Trapped in a passageway 4,000 feet from the mine entrance, only two of 21 men at work fighting a blaze in the men, escaped alive. They are Edward Travis, a mine foreman, and Louis Powell.

The explosion which occurred at 4 P. M. yesterday, was the aftermath of a fire which broke out when a cutting machine broke through a vein into a gas pocket.

The 21 men went into Butt No. 15 4,000 feet from the main entrance. At 5:30 P. M. George Osler, vice president of the company in charge of operations, came out of the pit, announcing his belief that the fire had been brought under control.

Within half an hour a terrific explosion was felt and the group was trapped while between 500 and 600 others emerged from other sections of the men, some of them not knowing any trouble was around them.

After three charred bodies were brought out of the mine last night, about 150 rescue workers continued their efforts to save the other 16 men trapped, but when these were reached early today all were dead.

At 1 A. M. another blast of gas in the mine was reported, but none was hurt. About 1,000 persons, many of them relatives of the trapped men, stood at the mine entrance in the wet snow waiting for news of what had happened. It was only at an early hour today that the scope of the disaster became apparent.

The section of Butt No. 15 where the explosion occurred was walled off today in an effort to exterminate the fires. Sixteen bodies remained within this section, while only three have been recovered.

When the second explosion occurred at 1 A. M. today William Ivill, superintendent of Mine No. 3 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company and Mathew Blair, superintendent of Mine No. 8, were overcome. As they were carried out on stretchers much excitement was caused, it being thought the disaster had claimed additional lives.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 4.—The bodies of 16 men entombed in the Mine No. 4 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company at Horning, may not be recovered for two weeks or a month.

This announcement was made this afternoon by company officials, state investigators and expert mine rescue men.

Brattices were being erected today in an attempt to smother the fire, but the danger of an outburst of flame from the coal even if the fire is apparently out will make it necessary for a long interval to elapse before the sealing walls are removed.

Eight men at work in sealing the burning section were overcome by gas this afternoon but are now recovering.

The death list has been fixed at 19, three bodies having been recovered and 16 men being entombed.

TWO CANDIDATES FILE FOR SENATE

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Secretary of State Mike Holm today received petitions from two candidates for the state senate.

They are: Senator G. Wyland, Wyoming, who filed for renomination for the senatorship from the 44th district which includes Anoka and Isanti counties; Basil T. Heath, Brainerd, to run in the 53rd district, which includes Morrison and Crow Wing counties.

OBJECT TO JAZZ MUSIC AFFECTING UNBORN BABIES

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Because it would inspire jazz emotions in unborn babies the Salvation Army are seeking to prevent a theater being erected next to its maternity hospital here. The suit charges the music from jazz would have an unfavorable effect on expectant mothers and affect the character of the babies.

RISES TO HEAD OF BIG CHICAGO CORPORATION

PAUL H. METZGER TRAVELS FROM STOCK BOY TO PRESIDENCY

GIVES CREDIT FOR COMMERCIAL
SUCCESS TO MOTHER AND WIFE

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Thirty-five years ago a slim little chap strolled through the streets of Chicago dreaming of the time when he would become president of something or other.

But before that time when he was to become president, this eight year old boy was faced with the more immediate task of caring for a mother and four children. Father had died and try as she might mother could not make both ends meet with what she made. Mostly this youngster was hungry. He was ragged too. Yet he never failed to take something home to mother.

Today he's sitting in the president's chair of the Washington Shirt company and they're talking about "I knew him when—"

Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the company, which has stores in 18 cities, Paul H. Metzger was elected president. Paul H. Metzger is that same boy who roamed around the streets here 35 years ago.

Dignified, high in the ranks of his trade, Paul Metzger did not tell them how by diligent work he had risen to his position. He gave all the credit to two women. One that Metzger used to take his pennies home to, and the other his wife, Lydia, "who managed to keep my home going during the days I was a minor clerk."

Up through the jobs of stock boy, clerk salesman, Metzger said, "I traveled, always with the presidency in view. Now I'm there. Two women made me."

Metzger does not have a long list how to succeed.

"Just do what you are told," he says. "Watch the mistakes of your superiors and avoid them when you get in their job. Be polite. 'Yes, ma'am' and 'no, sir' never hurt anybody. Be honest with your company and you'll get there."

5 OF FAMILY OF 7 BURNED TO DEATH TODAY

TOTALLY DESTROYED THE FARM
HOUSE OF WM. WILKINSON
DOWAGIAC, MICH.

WITNESSES WERE UNABLE TO COPE WITH INTENSE FLAMES

Dowagiac, Mich., Feb. 4.—Five members of a family of seven, including a three-day-old infant, were burned to death by fire of undetermined origin, which totally destroyed the farm house of William Wilkinson, six miles north of here today.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, a son, Floyd, a daughter, Janet, and the infant daughter.

Two other sons, Harold and Arnold, were working on a neighboring farm and escaped.

Witnesses attracted by smoke were unable to cope with the flames which swiftly roared through the frame structure and caved it in upon trapped members of the family who were sleeping. All five bodies were reclaimed from the wreck after the fire and brought to an undertaking parlor here. The dead mother of the family had been blind for many years.

Minneapolis—John Olson, 40 died late yesterday in a hospital here one hour after he had been found unconscious on the floor of his room, the victim of suicide.

MOBILIZE THE WOMEN IN A BREAD FIGHT

CLAIMED TWO GIGANTIC COR-PORATIONS TO DEAL IN STAFF OF LIFE

NATIONAL PRESIDENT OF THE
HOUSE WIVES LEAGUE
SOUNDS ALARM

New York, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Mobilization of women of the country to combat whatever ill effects may result from the formation of two new gigantic corporations dealing in bread and other foodstuffs began yesterday.

Faced with the organization of the $2,000,000,000 Ward Food Products Corporation last week and announcement of a $200,000,000 national corporation in Wall street, also designed to control food products, Mrs. Julian Heath, national president of the House Wives League, has warned members of the league throughout the country to be prepared to protect themselves.

"The business of housekeeping is bigger than the Ward combination and all other food combinations," Mrs. Heath declared, as she wired members of the league to communicate with their senators and congressmen in Washington to see that the "business of housekeeping is protected."

Housewives of the country will be urged to turn to their own ovens and revive the war-time gardens, if necessary to break the monopoly which it is feared the new food corporations may threaten.

William B. Ward, head of the new corporation bearing his name, has said that the housewives are the bakers' only competitors, in justification of the baking combine.

Mrs. Heath accepts this statement and warned that the moment "quality of the bakers' product is lowered or the price of bread increased above what is regarded as a fair level, a housewives' strike will follow."

"Don't think for a moment," she said, "that the housewife has forgotten how to bake her own bread, or how to raise her own garden produce. I might say too that we are not altogether satisfied with the present stand or the recent prices."

SAYS COMBINES WILL SET PRICE OF FARMERS' GOODS

Washington, Feb. 4.—The obvious result of two recent big food combinations with capital of $2,000,000,000 will be to control the price of everything the farmer sells, and everything edible the people buy, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, charged today.

In a statement explaining his resolution introduced in the senate yesterday to provide for an investigation of the food manufacturers' combine, LaFollette said:

"On Jan. 31, the Ward Food Products Corporation was formed in Baltimore with a potential capitalization of $2,000,000,000 for the purpose of dealing in all food products and by-products.

"This huge combine which will buy the farmers' products on the farm and sell them to the consumers at market is obviously intended to control the price of every table article from milk to bread. Its obvious result will be to control prices, not only the farmers' prices but the consumers' price. It is a very dangerous thing to let such a monopoly be erected."

LaFollette's resolution came this morning before the audit and control committee, which has charge of senate purse strings. It is usual for the committee to authorize any investigation justifying the expense and seldom has it attempted to thwart an investigation. The resolution should be submitted for vote of the senate within a few days.

Republicans have indicated some slight opposition on the ground that it might be considered a subject for a federal trade investigation under the anti-trust law, but they have not yet decided whether they will attempt to block it. LaFollette himself probably would conduct the investigation which might grow out of the resolution. He is a member of the manufacturers' committee and it has been the custom in the past to permit the author of an investigation resolution to conduct the inquiry.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The federal trade commission is protecting big trust mergers and the justice department has ceased to prosecute them, Senator King, democrat, Utah, told the senate today in a speech denouncing the $2,000,000,000 Ward and National Food Products combine.

King warned Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, author of a resolution for a senate investigation of the combine, that he need "expect no action by the executive department of the government."

"The apathy of the justice department,"

NATIONAL BANKS BRANCH BANKING PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The McFadden bill authorizing national banks to engage in branch banking in cities where state banks follow this practice, was passed by the house today and sent to the senate. The vote was 292 to 90.

DETROIT ARCTIC EXPEDITION ON ITS WAY NORTH

LEAVES TODAY FOR POINT BAR-
ROW, ALASKA, IN QUEST
OF LAND

TO EXAMINE WEATHER DATA,
AERIAL INFORMATION AT POLAR ICE CAP

By FOSTER EATON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 4.—Following a civic bon voyage to be extended from the steps of city hall at noon, flight leaders of the Detroit Arctic expedition were to leave today for Point Barrow, Alaska, in quest of possible land, weather data and aerial information held by the polar ice cap.

Captain George Hubert Wilkins, expedition commander, bade Detroit farewell over the radio last night, predicting the expedition would obtain its objective.

Major Lanphear, commandant of Selfridge flying field who will accompany Wilkins as second in command also predicted success for the venture. As the party entrains for Seattle it will be given an aerial bon voyage by the crack pursuit group of Selfridge field. The itinerary from here to Seattle included stops and entertainment at Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City and Portland. Departure from Seattle will be taken Feb. 13 on the S. S. Victoria for Seward, Alaska. The expedition will then proceed by rail to Fairbanks where two Fokker monoplanes, one equipped with three engines, will be assembled for the preparatory flight to Point Barrow.

Supplies for the exploratory flights, which may take Captain Wilkins over the top of the world to Spitzbergen, are already on the way to Point Barrow by snow motor and dog train sleds. Flying is expected to begin early in March before the Arctic spring fogs set in.

BEGGS ESTATE CASE ROUSES ALL WISCONSIN

DRASTIC ACTION TAKEN TO
HAVE $15,000,000 SECURI-
TIES RETURNED

TO FORCE EXECUTORS TO SUR-RENDER PROPERTY OR SHUT OFF INCOME

Milwaukee, Feb. 4.—(UP)—An effort to oust Mrs. Mary McCulloch, St. Louis, daughter of the late John I. Beggs and her husband, Richard, as officers and directors of the Beggs Investment company and to place Neole B. Nolsen, special administrator of the $25,000,000 estate, in complete control of the concern, has been started in court here.

This action of the state, considered the most drastic yet taken in its efforts to force the executors of the estate to return securities valued at $15,000,000 to Wisconsin, is designed to force the executors to surrender the property by shutting off the company's main income.

The four main developments were: Signing of a temporary injunction by Circuit Judge Gregory, restraining 28 corporation from paying dividends to the present officers of the investment company or to executors; suit filed demanding all property belonging to the investment company or Beggs, removed from the state after his death, be returned immediately; issuance of an order temporarily restraining officers of the investment company from selling or transferring any property now owned by the company; testimony in county court before Judge Michael S. Sheridan by George P. Miller, attorney, that he authorized the removal from Wisconsin of the property of the investment company and believes such removal was entirely legal.

EUCCHARISTIC CONCLAVE OF THE CATHOLICS

TO BE HELD AT CHICAGO, NERVE CENTER OF NEW WORLD

1,000,000 PILGRIMS ARE COMING
WORLD

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Here at the cross roads of America in the very heart and nerve center of the new world, where all lines of transportation and commerce center and cross is to be held the most tremendous gathering of people that the world has ever witnessed. It is the 28th International Eucharistic Conclave of the Roman Catholic church and it is estimated that not less than one million pilgrims from the four corners of the earth will come to partake of the "Blessed Sacrament."

All the physical resources of Chicago, 240 Catholic parishes, will be taxed to the utmost in handling the mammoth convention—in providing food and lodging for the pilgrims, transportation to and from the centers of activity and chapel accommodations for the administration of the sacrament.

It is the first time in history that the Eucharist Congress has been held in the U. S. and only the second time it has been held on this continent—Montreal being host in 1910.

Nearly 750,000 pilgrims went to Montreal and with superior transportation facilities and increased interest in the congress it is considered almost certain that 1,000,000 will attend the Chicago gathering, and the number may be considerably larger.

The Eucharistic celebration will be held from June 20 to 24, ending on the 24th in a magnificent ecclesiastical procession and pageant at Mandelieu, Ill., a village near Chicago where the church maintains a seminary and extensive country retreat.

One of the high spots of the congress will be a huge demonstration on Soldiers' Field on Chicago's lake front, featured by a chorus of 50,000 children's voices, singing sacred hymns and a mass. The children, all of them students in Chicago's parochial schools, are rehearsing daily in groups of 500 to 5,000. They will not be assembled together, however, until the day of the demonstration.

Since even this great outdoor arena will seat only 100,000 persons it will be necessary to hold separate meetings in all parts of the city. Every Catholic church, a number of the large theatres and as many convention halls as can be obtained, will be used.

The world wide aspect of the congress was demonstrated today in the visit at Catholic headquarters of an "advance agent" for a party of 2,000 Catholics from Bavaria. The "advance agent" has been sent to the United States to secure railroad fare reductions and to arrange a tour of America enabling the delegation to visit as many places of interest as possible en route to and from the congress.

The delegation of 2,000 from Bavaria is distinctive of a similar group from Berlin and other delegations from France, Spain, Italy, Austria, Russia, Australia, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Brazil, Mexico and other foreign countries.

Chicago consuls of many of these nations have been asked to arrange housing facilities.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY ARGUED IN THE SENATE

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The senate today will tackle the controversial question of income tax publicity, repeal of which was voted by the house and concurred in by the senate finance committee. Chairman Smoot of the committee, in charge of the tax bill in the senate, said he would take up the publicity question as soon as the senate had disposed of several minor provisions.

CADET, HURT IN AIRPLANE CRASH, NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Cadet George Carnath, Fountain, Wis., who was injured in a plane crash yesterday, is near death, according to attending physicians. His mother, Mrs. Ida Carnath, has been notified of the flyer's condition and is understood to be on her way here from the Wisconsin city.

MEASLES BID FAIR TO CLOSE LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Hopes for an unexpected vacation at Lawrence College have been shattered.

Rumors to the effect that there is a widespread attack of measles at the college was said to be unfounded and according to City Health Officer Theodore Sanders, there is a decrease in the number of cases of measles in the city instead of an increase.

Sanders reports that where 40 cases were supposed to exist at the college only three have been reported to him.

EXPECT NEW AND MOST STARTLING REVELATIONS SOON

SPECIAL GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING
FORMER ALIEN PROP-ERTY CUSTODIAN

AMERICAN METALS CORPORA-TION AFFAIRS BEING PROBED

New York, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Belief that new evidence had been unearthed by the special federal grand jury investigating the methods of former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller, which may lead to a new startling revelation was current here today.

The latest developments in this second investigation into the return of $7,000,000 in securities of the American Metals Corporation in 1921 and which gave rise to this belief were:

1. A report that former Attorney General Harry Daugherty had given the information that he has hitherto refused in his previous testimony before investigating committees in Washington.

2. Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general, and Washington Court House, O., banker, has appeared eight separate times before the jury and has been closeted usually 2 to 3 hours.

3. The strictest secrecy surrounds the entire investigation. Witnesses are surrounded by a squad of deputy marshals when taken into federal building and often spirited by back streets to a safe distance.

4. The probable appearance of Gaston B. Means as a witness. Means was brought here from federal prison in Atlanta and is now being questioned by the district attorney and his assistants. He may go before the grand jury today or tomorrow.

5. The appearance of others who played a prominent part in Daugherty's administration as attorney general, including Roxie Stinson, who may be called later, and Adna R. Johnson, an assistant to Daugherty during his regime as attorney general.

Federal District Attorney Emory R. Buckner today declined to make any comment on the reports which center about the trial.

MINNESOTA REAL ESTATE VALUE GROWS

THAT OF CITIES AND TOWNS IN-CREASING TWICE AS FAST
AS COUNTRY

FIGURES MADE PUBLIC BY MIN-NESOTA STATE TAX COMMISSION

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—Value of real estate and building in Minnesota cities and towns is increasing twice as fast as in farming territory.

This was the situation during the 10-year period ending in 1924, at least, according to figures made public today by the state tax commission.

The figures show a 30 per cent increase in the full and true value of the unplatted lands and the structures thereon, and a 60 per cent increase in the value of platted lands and the buildings on it during the 10 year period.

The figures show the full value of land and buildings in the state to be $3,964,276,802 in 1924, as compared with $1,154,155,345 in 1914, an increase for the entire state of 41 per cent.

Duluth—The Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Welch, was today installed as bishop of Duluth. Consecration ceremonies were conducted in the cathedral at St. Paul yesterday.

TEMPERANCE SOC'Y. OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT AT NEW YORK CITY
TODAY

DECISION IS RESULT OF 20,000
ANSWERS GIVEN BY MEMBERS

New York, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Church Temperance Society of the Protestant Episcopal church, feeling that prohibition has undone the work of 50 years of the temperance movement, will work for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of light wines and beer.

This decision as announced by Dr. James Empringham, national secretary, is the result of answers received during the past year to 20,000 members of the society, including both clergy and laity.

Among the reasons given for the desired modification of prohibition were the complaints that the Volstead act "has resulted in increased drinking among young people," is class legislation, discriminating in favor of the rich and "has brought about disrespect for all laws."

The society has a list of officers and a directorate which includes 20 bishops.

Dr. Empringham said that considerable pressure has been exerted in an effort to prevent publication of the result of the questionnaire, lest it deal "irreparable injury" to the cause of prohibition. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, communicated with him by telephone, telegraph and letter, Dr. Empringham said.

Dr. Empringham is a former vice-president of the Anti-Saloon League.

Bootlegging Smugglers Did $100,000,000 Business

Washington, Feb. 4.—Bootleggers smuggled more than $100,000,000 worth of liquors across the Mexican and Canadian borders last year, treasury officials estimated today.

Thirty persons obtained and drank more than 300,000 gallons of real Canadian beer, several hundred thousands of Canadian ale and about 400,000 quarts of genuine whiskey, investigation made by prohibition sleuths showed.

Across the Mexican border there trickled more than 100,000 quarts of aquilla and thousands of gallons of other intoxicants.

Liquor smugglers in 1925 had little difficulty in running the prohibition gauntlet and transporting the contraband supplies of distributing centers, officials admitted.

Since the establishment of border patrols however, the flow of rum has diminished slightly.

The big flow of Canadian rum came through North Dakota, it was said. That boundary line was practically unguarded the first nine months of the year and smugglers used that entrance for wet goods that were shipped by trucks to Des Moines, Omaha, Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, St. Louis and other midwestern points.

Intoxicants from Mexico supply Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oklahoma and Louisiana. The other southern states had to depend upon bootleggers supply from Cuba and the Bahamas if genuine liquors were used.

Volstead Fights Making of Body Rub Alcohol

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—Andrew J. Volstead, northwest prohibition department legal advisor, has gone to Washington to carry on his fight against the manufacture of body rub alcohol.

In Washington Mr. Volstead is holding long conferences with Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and L. K. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury upon the new enforcement program and amendments to make the prohibition law more strict.

One of these amendments discussed is understood to be directed against the manufacture of body rub alcohol. In federal court in St. Paul early this week, Mr. Volstead declared that manufacturing body rub alcohol already is illegal because permits for it are based on a law passed before the prohibition law and nullified by the latter.

ATTORNEY TALKS TO ROTARY CLUB

BRAINERD MAN IS CHIEF SPEAKER AT ST CLOUD MEETING WEDNESDAY NOON

A record attendance marked the noon day luncheon of the Rotary club at the Breen hotel Wednesday, when the members listened to an inspiring address by Walt Wieland of Brainerd, county attorney for Crow Wing county. Mr. Wieland is an enthusiastic Rotarian and well versed in the spirit and ideals of Rotary.

"There is more in an avocation or the particular thing you are doing as means of a livelihood than just living," said Mr. Wieland. "You are probably familiar with that well-known English play 'The Servant in the House' which glorifies and dignifies labor. It matters not what the character of your work as long as it serves a useful purpose in our economic and social structure."

Jerry Kinsella was the chairman of the day and distributed attendance prizes upon the basis of correct answers to a questionnaire on Rotary. The prizes were won by President Dan Haslam and Roy Dodd. An enjoyable musical program was furnished during the luncheon by Albert and Frederick Gross. Among the visitors at the meeting was Mons Mahlum of Brainerd, prominent retail lumber dealer, who is in the city visiting his son of the Granite City Lumber company.—St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press.

PILLAGER FORMS

COMMERCIAL CLUB

(Special to Dispatch)
Pillager, Minn., Feb. 4.—The business men of the village of Pillager met Wednesday night (last night) and decided to organize a commercial club, taking in members from the village and vicinity.

The following officers were elected:

President—Sam Bower.
Vice President—J. W. Lee.
Secretary—C. P. Parker.
Treasurer—E. J. Dorsey.

The purpose of the club is to attract tourist traffic and to do everything possible for the community in way of creameries and agriculture. The officers together with the mayor of the village form the executive committee which will have charge of the general business of the club. They adjourned to next Monday evening at which time they will complete plans to lay out the future work.

"New" Bridge Is Old

The Pont Neuf, or New Bridge, over the Seine, near the Louvre in Paris, is really the oldest bridge of the French capital. It was built by Henry IV about the beginning of the Seventeenth century.

THE KNOT HOLE

No. 8 THURSDAY, FEB. 4, 1926 Vol. 1

We can sympathize with February. It's a little short.

We love to see the snow come down.
In little feathery flocks,
It's beautiful but, gosh, we hate To shovel it off the walks.

We have always noticed that a small boy and a snow bank are natural affinities.

It doesn't pay to be crooked. Look what happened to the hair pin and the cork screw.

We finally found out why men leave home. It's to hunt their wives.

Well, none but the brave deserve the fair—and none but the brave can live with some of them.

Small amount of ashes
Large amount of heat
Are the reasons Standard Coal Is very hard to beat.

If you are not a user of Standard you have not experienced fuel satisfaction.

Why spend time and labor "fish-in" out rock and clinkers and carrying ashes? Buy "tons" of heat—not waste.

Why hate a fellow who disagrees with you? He may be right.

Do you realize that spring is just around the corner?

Only 323 more shopping days 'til Christmas.

"There's nothing like the acid test," commented the husband as he hit his wife in the eye in the morning grape fruit contest.

W. M. MURPHY SPOKE AT ENGINEERS' MEET

Crow Wing County Highway Engineer Leads Discussion at Convention

WAS ELECTED SEC'Y.-TREAS.

Relationship Between Highway Engineer to County Commissioners

Walter M. Murphy, county highway engineer of Crow Wing county, addressed the Minnesota Engineers' and Surveyors' Society at their meeting in St. Paul yesterday, leading part of the discussion on the relationship of the highway engineer with the county commissioners.

Mr. Murphy was elected secretary-treasurer of the society at the meeting, thus bringing to Brainerd a high honor.

The text of the address was as follows, on the subject, "The Relation of the Engineer to the Community in Which He is Placed":

"It should be friendly. He should not make the mistake of the man who upon reading a glowing prospectus on California, went there and not finding conditions to his liking started back and on the highest hill outside the city of San Francisco, turned, dramatically lifted his hand and said, 'Goodbye; goodbye California, land of lemons, prunes and nuts.' But had he stayed he might have found ways and means to sweeten the lemons, stew the prunes and crack the nuts.

"The engineer, besides being a mathematical shark, a precision hound, should be a diplomat. I have forgotten who said it but it will apply now, 'The study of mankind is man,' and this should be one of the engineer's slogans.

"He should join the different civic clubs, be a salesman, and let the people of that community know that he has the greatest thing in the world to sell, the roads.

"Most of us belong to the so-called small town class. I am proud of it. I had rather, when walking down the street of my own home town, have the salutation of my fellows than riches.

"The engineer should be big enough to be looked upon as an asset along with the other professional men, the doctors, the lawyers, etc. He should cultivate the acquaintance of all within his particular sphere of operation, for the personal equation has a great deal to do with the results that he attains.

"In his relation with the board of county commissioners he should be their source of information, knowing as he does the condition of the county as a whole.

"We know that in some counties the engineer is regarded as a bird of passage for every one to take a shot at, but here in Crow Wing county the engineer and the county board are two co-ordinates that work together very harmoniously. A budget is made up at the beginning of the year and with the exception of some minor unforeseen problems it works out very well. In 1925 the amount set aside for the sinking fund exceeded the 1925 budget's estimate by $2,000.

"The board of Crow Wing county believes in fair play and has the confidence of the whole county and it is certainly a pleasure for an engineer to work with them.

"The engineer should learn to talk to sell to others the things that he knows so well, for the engineers as a class are above the average man in intelligence. But unfortunately except in few cases he cannot express himself.

"He should at times commune with himself, take account, see what kind of an asset he is, look for the faults, study them, devise ways and means to correct same. Believe in yourself and put the personal U brand on the community. This is an asset that you and I cannot overlook. If we give ourselves the same kind of criticism that we are prone to give others, we will go farther.

"We are on this earth for a purpose. You and I have chosen the engineer's profession. Let our footsteps be along straight lines and our standard of living the precise levels that our profession demands so that when we join the 'Innumerable Caravan,' we can say 'Life has been one long, sweet song.'"

FORT RIPLEY NEWS

The silver anniversary party given at Johnson's hall by Mr. and Mrs. John Burtrum was well attended and enjoyed by all present. May they live to celebrate their diamond anniversary.

Orville Anderson of Duluth left today for that place after an extended visit with his wife who is teaching in District No. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clousen visited Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Utley.

The ice harvest is being conducted at Crow Wing lake. Mr. Peterson of Gull lake is doing the cutting and keeping the teamsters busy.

George Felix and children are spending the winter with the Thomas DeRosier family.

The Indians of the north say this is the month for deep snow, so put your cars in cold storage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stevens and children spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Clem Utley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burtrum and Clarence Meyers and mother spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimes, playing cards.

Mrs. Orville Anderson on account of the sickness of her little daughter, Carol, is driving from her school to Little Falls night and morning and reports the roads in bad shape.

Who says Fort Ripley is not busy? Come in on creamery days. There is certainly some cream coming in. Our farmers are wide awake.

They hope to start negotiations that will give a definite idea to follow in the plans for the building.

OLD FIDDLERS

CONTEST STAGED

Finkelstein & Ruben Sponsor Contest in Connection With "King Cole," Film Play

AGE LIMIT IS 55 OR OVER

You Must Play by Ear, Any of Dance Tunes of 30 or 40 Years

Ago Acceptable

Finkelstein & Ruben will shortly stage an oldtime fiddling contest in Brainerd. Some one will win the prize for playing a fiddle—not a violin, but a fiddle, a la Mollie Dunham.

There are only two rules in this contest. Every contestant must be 55 or older and must play by ear. You can play any kind of "piece" you like—even "That Certain Party," if it can be played that way—so long as you play it by ear. You have to "fiddle," that's all. Any of the dance tunes that are 30 or 40 years old will go big.

Judges in all contests—both elimination and final—will be the audience. The fiddler who gets the biggest hand will get the prize. That is believed to be fair enough.

Get out your fiddles, all of you fellows who keep complaining that the dance music they play nowadays isn't half so good as the tunes you used to saw out at dances 30 and 40 years ago.

Tune up, Mollie Dunham, and let's go!

NORTH LONG LAKE NEWS

The Daughters of the Soil will meet Saturday at the home of Doris Olson. Ruth Dillon has charge of the program.

There was no Bible class last Sunday because of the bad roads. We hope to meet next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The first three chapters of Genesis will be studied. If you are interested in science, come and see that the Bible says about the creation. Although this is nominally a young people's class there is no age limit.

C. H. Congdon, inventor, publisher, and manufacturer, cousin of the late H. C. Hughey, visited at the Hughey home for a few days last week. A sketch of Mr. Congdon may be found in the 1925 "Who's Who in America."

The sympathy of the community is extended to our teacher, Miss Hazel Huntley, for her recent bereavement in the death of her father.

School was resumed again Monday with a good attendance considering the bad roads.

The faithfulness of our mailman is certainly to be commended. To date we believe he has not missed a day in over three years.

The Seavert Paulson family visited at Hughey's Sunday.

February is full of the birthdays of our great men. Outstanding and prominent in our thoughts are those of Lincoln and Washington. In all our nation's history no other men so richly deserve the title of the perfect American. We may well meditate upon those qualities which made them great and no more fitting memorial can be established to them than that we should here resolve that, humble though our place may be, America shall find us ready to fill our place to the best of our ability. Farming, without a question, is the most important industry that the United States has. Perhaps in that industry we best serve.

The ground hog saw his shadow, but, cheer up, he may forget about it!

Adolphe Menjou, Greta Nissen, Bessie Love in "The King on Main Street"

That Paramount wanted to make sure the Monta Bell production, "The King on Main Street," would be one of the outstanding pictures of the current season is evidenced by the all-star calibre of the players who appear in the principal roles in the cast.

Adolphe Menjou is starred in the title role of the production.

Greta Nissen and Bessie Love are featured in support of the star.

"The King on Main Street," which will be shown tonight and Friday at the Lyceum theatre, is a romantic comedy in which Menjou, as the King of a small European country, meets and falls in love with a young American girl, is entertained in a big way in a small town—and then returns to his own country without the girl.

Vilma Banky and Donald Colman
in "The Dark Angel"

Few artists from abroad assimilate American customs and usages as rapidly as has Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty recently discovered in Budapest by Samuel Goldwyn, who appears with Donald Colman in "The Dark Angel," at the New Park Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And now, according to observers, Vilma has as quickly accomplished the finesse and technique of the American actress.

ADVERTISING ADVERTISING

THE DISPATCH has insurmountable faith in the selling power of its advertising. Test after test has been applied with most satisfactory results, but this week a new plan is being tried to further convince small advertisers that there is a section of the advertising pages designed especially for them and fully as efficient for them as the larger advertisements used by our wide-awake merchants. This is the want ad or classified section. Want ads are efficient because they are interesting and because they cover such a large variety of subjects. There are few readers but will admit that they read the want ads carefully.

Saturday, the Dispatch is having a bargain day of its own. A free want ad will be inserted for every person in Brainerd and surrounding territory if necessary. The only requirement is that the ad be brought or sent to the Dispatch office, and not telephoned. Before 5 o'clock Friday evening.

This is going to be an interesting experiment and will, we hope, further demonstrate the fact that "Dispatch Want Ads Bring Results."

The want ad column is yours Saturday. Use it.

THE FLORIDA BALLYHO

"WITH all the hullabaloo about Florida," says the Coleraine Iron News, "she is a long ways behind Minnesota. It is true that she gets more tourists than we do, the rank being Florida, California and Minnesota, but wait until our 10,000 Lakes Association gets into real action.

"Ponce de Leon started advertising Florida as the land of flowers and eternal youth, and with a lot of good hustling from a bunch of real estate men, the state has at last reached a population of 1,090,754 people, most of whom are democrats.

"What has Minnesota been doing in the meantime? Making bread and butter, mining iron and the like—with such good industry that today our population has reached the modest total of 2,553,550. Florida, what have you to say to that?"

HOTEL REGULATION

HOTEL regulation by commissions created solely for that purpose exist in only two states, Florida and Kansas. Twenty other states have hotel regulation in some degree, performed in connection with other duties by various boards and commissions. These twenty states are Minnesota, Washington, Wisconsin, Alabama, South Dakota, Kentucky, Idaho, Nebraska, Arkansas, New Mexico, Utah, Oklahoma, Iowa, North Dakota, Tennessee, South Carolina, Montana, Vermont, California and Ohio.

Even partial regulation of hotels has been found to be a great help in protecting the rights of constant hotel users and no one will say that the work along this line in the twenty states mentioned has not improved conditions.

AN examination of the ocean rates from various countries of the world competing with the United States and Canada shows that the economies which may be expected to result from the admission of ocean vessels to the grain ports of the Great Lakes via the proposed St. Lawrence waterway will go far toward equalizing transportation and other costs with those of principal competitors. The economic position of the entire grain-producing territory of the United States and Canada will be greatly improved, and its ability to compete in the grain markets of the world will be protected.

GOVERNOR CHRISTIANSON recently re-appointed Dr. James A. Thabes a member of the State Board of Health, his term extending from January, 1926, to January, 1929. The doctor has gained wide recognition as a surgeon of ability, who is also versed in the practice of medicine. As head of the Brainerd Clinic he has won high renown and has also assisted to bring St. Joseph's hospital to a high state of perfection. The appointment of Dr. Thabes, as made by the governor, is very pleasing to Brainerd people and others in this section of the state.

WOMEN are active in all sorts of jobs which in former days were thought solely man's work. For instance at Wigwam Bay on Mille Lacs lake, Miss Cavanaugh from down state, as mentioned by the Onamia Herald, has taken a contract to cut the timber on the Wanakiwin farm, and is establishing a logging camp on the place as headquarters for her operations. Quite a number of men will be employed. Other farms will also be cleared of timber. Down at Vineland bay a mill will be operated, doing custom sawing and planing.

EIGHTEEN conventions bringing 25,000 people to St. Paul have been scheduled in February. This will be one of the largest convention months of the year according to Frank H. Moore, secretary of the hotels and conventions subdivision of the St. Paul Association. Attendance figures take in only out-of-town people expected.

THE Minnesota State Dairyman's Association convention held at Brainerd on January 19, 20 and 21 brought the express company close to $100 worth of express business. This was on account of butter and cheese exhibits expressed to Brainerd and entered in the prize contest.

AN insidious form of grip is boring into Brainerd. It takes the shape of a severe cold, plus pain in the limbs and takes as its shining mark the weakest part of a person's anatomy. Some have its after-effects settled in the head, others in the back, etc.

"GOOD MORNING," says the Pillager Herald. "Have you paid your tax yet? Car tax before February 15th. Personal property tax before March 1st. Income tax before March 15th. Real estate tax before June 1st. Gas tax every day."

DULUTH radio fans have been getting such poor reception in their town that they have asked the government to investigate. Large power leaks may be causing trouble in Duluth.

THE same world news service as THE BRAINERD DISPATCH receives from the United Press goes to thirty-five countries outside of the United States.

THE STORY THAT CURED HIS WIFE

By C. A. STEARNS

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

THE Colonel's young wife had suffered a bereavement that left her in that state of melancholia which is the first stage of insanity. Nothing could rouse her from her dull, listless brooding. The surgeon of the post, of course, advised complete change of scene; but that was out of the question.

While pondering deeply on this urgent problem, a chance word suggested to the Colonel a desperate expedient. Would it succeed?

Seating himself by his wife's couch, he with difficulty secured her wandering attention, and this is the story he told:

At the close of a hot, sultry, afternoon, threatening a thunderstorm, a young lieutenant of engineers, in charge of a government surveying party, had gone on some distance in advance of his men to select a camping place for the night. Following a ledge, he came upon a decaying log cabin, built against the rock. Only a part of the thickly moss-grown roof remained, and above it projected the trunk of a large tree, built into the log wall of the shack at one of its angles nearest the ledge.

Startled by the loneliness of this wreck of a human shelter in the dense wilderness, the lieutenant pushed open the door.

As the young engineer stood there gazing around the moldering ruin, he wondered vaguely why he should care to waste a moment in such a desolate and uninviting spot. In a little while he felt a sensation of numbness in his feet. He felt that he could not move if he tried—and he dared not try.

Just then a distant shout came to his ears. It drew nearer and nearer, and the surveyors, crossing the glade in search of him, reached the open door, hanging on one of its pegs. With feet as heavy as lead he stepped over its threshold and almost with effusion greeted Sergeant Lawson. The sergeant stared at him and into the gloomy hut, and lingered, looking curiously after the lieutenant, as with ever-lightening feet he led the men away from the cabin to a camping spot at some distance.

When camp was pitched, the lieutenant gave orders that the men should be waked and camp broken at half-past three in the morning, for a long march before breakfast in the cool of the day. As they sat about the fire after supper, enjoying a short smoke before turning in, the lieutenant could not keep his thoughts from the deserted cabin and his strange experience there. He said to Lawson: "Queer old shack over there."

The sergeant nodded and continued to look at him steadily with such an expression that the officer felt impelled to relate what had happened to him. Again Lawson nodded and said:

"I went in myself and had exactly the same sensations."

Each continued to look steadily into the other's face. They were men of action, not words. At length the lieutenant said:

"There's a moon for an hour before daylight, and an hour's sleep won't be missed—even if we can sleep. What do you say to an exploration of the ruined cabin before we march?"

It was so agreed.

When they stood again in the moonlight before the old hut, an unaccountable depression crept over them. Entering silently, they sat down on the bench, and looked about as their eyes became accustomed to the darkness. The symptoms they had before experienced returned—the tingling sensation in the feet, creeping up through the body. Then the yellow light itself failed, and they were left in pitchy darkness. Both men fumbled for matches, but their fingers were numb and useless, and they felt the same dreadful numbness stealing over their senses.

At that moment they were startled into consciousness by an awful sight. At the point among the logs of the rear wall where the lieutenant had noticed the charred streaks, a straight, dagger-shaped dart of flame shot downward toward the floor and remained there quivering. Then a second flashed and hovered beside the first. They gave out a lurid, sulphurous light, like flames seen through a dense fog or smoke. Rapidly this smoky light, pouring through the crevices, shaped itself, until there appeared before them, nebulous but distinct, a towering form in the semblance of humanity. It seemed to glow with fiercest heat, yet, far from giving warmth, it only added to the deathly chill. As the lieutenant saw that fearful shape, solidifying out of the fiery vapor, he was assailed by an unreasoning, overwhelming, unconquerable fear. He groped toward his companion, who sat rigid as marble, and laid a cold hand upon his arm. At his touch the trooper shrieked and dropped to the floor, leaving his officer alone with the shape.

(As the Colonel's low, impressive tones put vivid life into this thrilling verbal picture, he noted the light of concentrated attention in the eyes of his wife, followed by the welcome gleam of returning interest in human affairs.)

There the lieutenant sat, continued the narrator, his gaze held by a horrible fascination. He tried to speak, to stir, to move. He could not lift a finger. Not a muscle would answer his will.

The shape grew more and more into the likeness of a human being of malignant type. Its color changed to a pale, greenish tint, like the phosphorescence of decaying wood. Faintly outlined in this dreadful medium could be traced a sunken, retreating brow, shadowed by a mat of hair, a hawklike nose, and long, wolfish teeth gleaming through a drooping mustache above a brutal jaw.

The eyes, compared with the face, seemed dark spots, yet they glistened with a ghastly light of their own. The engineer officer was conscious that those glowing orbs, bursting into intermittent flame like the embers of a dying fire, were fixed upon him with consuming hatred, and he vainly tried to evade their baleful glare.

His strength was slipping away with his enthralled volition, but he feared not bodily harm, as much as he dreaded the assault and capture of his will, for he realized that some more potent psychic force than he possessed was striving to wrest from him his individuality.

He struggled to retain his reason. With an effort of will that brought the dew of agony to his brow, he almost flung himself upright upon his feet, in an effort to escape. As he did so, the hideous shape advanced, projected by the weird flames playing through the gaping chinks of the rear wall, and crept stealthily forward like an animal seeking its prey. The lieutenant could in fancy feel those horrible fangs piercing his very soul. As the dread form was upon him, he instinctively threw up his arm, as if to ward off a physical blow, when a shock—a searing of the flesh as at the touch of liquid air—an etching jet of flame that burned to the bone, ran through his wrist. Then he felt himself caught and dragged over the ground.

When he looked about with returning consciousness, he found himself surrounded by his men, some yards from the crumbling cabin, with Lawson stretched upon the grass, still unconscious. Missing the lieutenant and the sergeant at the hour set for breaking camp, the surveyors, attracted by a bright light in the ruined shack, had sought and found them there, insensible, and apparently overcome by mephitic fumes that filled the place. Both were as weak as though convalescing from a lingering fever, and the early morning march was abandoned.

By sunrise the leaders had so far recovered as to superintend the demolition of the cabin. When the rotting log walls were thrown down and burned, an extraordinary sight was revealed. As the blazing logs fell away from the face of the cliff, it was seen that the rear wall—in which there had been a movable section on pegs like the entrance door—masked a second chamber, a cavern in the rock. There was a rude fireplace in it, deep with ashes. Over it hung iron hooks and pots; crucibles with various instruments and utensils were scattered about. Beyond the fireplace and a rough work bench something was vaguely outlined in the dim light. Approached with a torch, it proved to be a human skeleton of unusual height, whose bleached bones were cracked and distorted. It was complete, except the feet, which were missing. The stumps of the ankle bones rested in a deep vat, sunk in the floor of the cave. One bony hand, split and blackened, grasped a wire that connected with the great glowing tree trunk in the cabin wall.

It was with feelings of awe that the little party gazed at this strange sight, but the two leaders were glad to find themselves entirely free from the oppressive symptoms which had overpowered them when on the spot before. They looked at each other intently in silence, but afterwards exchanged confidences.

Was that the last page in the dread history of some student of unknown forces—some searcher into forbidden mysteries—trapped to his death amid the strange devices of his unholy occupation? It seemed so. Eagerly absorbed in some experiment while a great storm was raging without, his feet by an awful accident had slipped into the vat, containing no one knows what frightful mixture. To save himself, he had grasped the wire attached to the tree, which at that moment, by some strange chance of merited fatality, was riven by lightning, which followed the wire and passed through his body.

Had the sultry summer air, heavily charged with electricity, enabled the restless spirit of the sorcerer to utilize again that fateful circuit, impregnate the very ground with resistless, benumbing power, and materialize itself electrically into the lambent, flaming figure they had seen? So they always believed, and the deep scar, an inch long, in the lieutenant's wrist, which he will carry to his grave, confirms him in that belief.

The colonel's wife started up as he concluded his story, and following her gaze, his eyes also rested on a livid scar on his own right hand, reaching from the base of the thumb to the wrist.

"O Richard!" she cried, rising and walking the room in her excitement. "I know at last the secret of that dreadful burn. It was you who suffered that awful experience. Oh, what if I had lost you, too!"

Raising his eyes to hers, he saw with joy the wholesome brightness of sanity and health. As she sprang to her feet, the shackles of her morbid fancies dropped away, and she stood there glowing, once more the winsome and vivacious bride. The story had cured her.

Ancient Eastern City

Stands for Desolation

With the annexation of Transjordan of the Hedjaz districts of Meen and Akaba, one of the strangest cities in existence comes under British mandate. This is the wonderful pink city of Petra.

In ancient times this flourishing center of eastern splendor stood near the point of intersection of the great caravan routes from Palmyra, Gaza, Egypt and the Persian gulf, four days' journey from the Mediterranean and five from the Red sea. Now it is miles from nowhere and can only be reached on horseback with a strong armed escort.

The city is entered down a dark and narrow gorge, in places only ten feet wide, which is nothing more than a great split in the huge sandstone rocks. It is like wandering along some mysterious passage to Aladdin's cave, until the pass suddenly ends in a mass of temples, tombs and theaters of exquisite architecture.

There, right out in the "blue" and in the widest aspect of nature, is a treasure house of the most delicate masterpieces of Greece and Rome. Perfect columns with Corinthian capitals, support the richly carved roofs. Facades and doorways of exquisite design stand desolate in the wilderness. The architecture of kings is used to provide shelter for a few wandering Bedouins.

But the most astonishing thing of all is that these tombs and temples were actually hewn out of the solid rock, which has the most peculiar deep pink coloring. Instead of being built up like ordinary buildings, they were hewn downwards from the ground level. Almost completely surrounding the city are rose-colored mountain walls, divided into groups by great gaping cracks and lined with rock-cut tombs in the form of towers. —E. W. Polson Newman, in the London Mail.

Unfortunate Statler

FURNACE DEATH MYSTERY FACES SIOUX CITY, IOWA

BODY OF MRS. GEORGE SOLOMON,
47, FOUND IN THE BASE-MENT

SONS BELIEVE FATHER CAN CLEAR UP THE MYST-ERY

Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 4.—(UP)—A "furnace death mystery" confronted police today in the case of Mrs. George Solomon, 47, mother of nine children, whose badly charred body was found in the basement of the Solomon home here. Solomon was taken into custody at the suggestion of two of his sons, who said they believed he could clear up the mystery.

When the younger children returned from school late yesterday, Solomon told them their mother was visiting friends. A little later three of the children discovered the body. The body was some distance from the large furnace. It was covered with coal ashes. The head and arms were badly burned. There were no burns on the lower part of the body. Police said that indications were that the body had been dragged from the furnace to the spot where it was found.

The family came here from Albert Lea, Minn., six years ago.

ATLANTIC SEABOARD CLOAKED IN SNOW

New York, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Atlantic seaboard today lay enshrouded in a thick blanket of snow, while gales swept the flakes in furious gusts. Eight men lost their lives when two barges were torn from a tow line. Other coastal shipping was in distress while far out in the Atlantic the Purness freighter Manchester Products reported trouble.

Snow has fallen continuously in New York since yesterday afternoon. The city has called out 10,000 extra men to clear the streets.

The barge Phoenix and Vapor of the Howard Towing company, slipped their tow line in a 70 mile gale off Scott lightship. The seas wrenched the seams of one barge which sank immediately. The other was found grounded safely near Sandy Hook with no sign of her crew. A railroad barge, probably without a crew, was thrown on to the beach at Asbury Park, N. J., and an empty lifeboat, wave battered, came ashore near Sandy Hook.

The storm is a gift of the south to the North Atlantic. A northeast wind brought it from Georgia and intensity was added as it progressed. The local bureau forecasts cessation of snow around noon today with gales shifting from northeast to northwest.

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The storms lashing the Atlantic coast will subside today, the U. S. bureau predicted today. Generally fair with little change in temperature except for colder weather in some sections, is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Pacific coast was lashed by severe storms during the night. Storm warnings were issued for all points between Port Reyes and Puget Sound.

An oiler was swept off the deck of a Norwegian motor ship, said a radiogram at Marshfield, Ore.

Heavy seas battered beach structures all along the coast. The $1,000,000 amusement pier at Santa Monica has sagged three feet.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TEL. CO. TO ISSUE $5,000,000 IN STOCK

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Authority was granted the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company of Omaha, Neb., today by the Nebraska railway commission to issue $5,000,000 in 6 1/2 per cent cumulative stock. The company operates in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota. It plans to sell the stock in lots of not more than 10 shares to patrons in the territory served. Par value is $100. The money will be used to retire funds advanced by the parent company.

FAIRY STORY COMES TO NAUGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Normand MacDonald and Ade Tobin of Duluth, Minn., on their way to Rockford, Ill., to buy a motor ambulance stopped off here last night for a short visit. They spent most of their time and much money at a soft drink parlor. Then it dawned upon them they might have to explain where the money went so they decided to call the police station and report they had been robbed. This did not work so well, however, as detectives investigated and the men finally admitted there had been no robbery. They were fined $10 and costs each on a charge of disorderly conduct in district court today.

WOMAN MARRIES NEGRO BELIEVING HIM WHITE MAN

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 4.—Six months ago Mrs. Eda Heale Bogie, 35, widow of a well known stockbreeder of the tri-cities, married a "personable white" man she had known for more than eight years. Today Mrs. Bogie was reported on the verge of prostration at the home to her parents in Rock Island, Ill., following the discovery that her husband was a negro and that he was the father of a girl in Columbus, O., by a former marriage with a negress.

Ralph Bogie, the husband, and his bride of six months were taken into police custody following the death of Harold, their foster son, who died from burns received when a kettle of boiling water fell on him. They were released but the grand jury is continuing its investigation.

While in jail police discovered that the man who had been accepted as a white for so long, was a negro. Bogie broke down and wept when he made the admission to police. He begged them to keep the news from his wife. But a detective told her of the discovery.

Mrs. Bogie, apparently stunned by the news, fled to Rock Island. While she refused to discuss the subject, friends expect her to file annulment proceedings.

WIFE LEAVES HOME; HUSBAND KILLS SELF

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 4.—(UP)—"Get your own supper, I've gone home to mother," read a note Alton Johnson, 26, found when he arrived home last night.

He got his supper and then took poison, from which he died a short time later. But Mrs. Johnson did not go to her home at Cannon Falls, Minn. She called at police station today and told how she and her husband had quarreled over having her daughter, by a previous marriage, stay with them. Yesterday, she said, she finally decided to go to her home to see her daughter, but later decided not to do so.

ANSWERS RUMORS THAT POLITICIANS INFLUENCE FELT

CHAIRMAN OF STATE BOARD OF PAROLE MAKES A REPLY

DENIES ANY CONSIDERATION SHOWN PRISONERS ON SUCH ACCOUNT

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Answering rumors current yesterday that letters from politicians in some instances influenced the state board of parole in its release of prisoners, C. J. Swendsen, chairman of the board, today emphatically denied any special consideration had been shown the prisoners because of political influence.

The rumors became current yesterday when it was announced that the crime commission is planning to ask the board of parole to turn over its files of correspondence. It was said then that many letters from politicians are in the files of letters asking for clemency. Swendsen said the politicians are free to write to the board the same as everyone else, but that their letters were never given special consideration because of political influence they might have.

FREIGHTER WITH BROKEN RUDDER CALLS FOR HELP

Cape May, N. J., Feb. 4.—(UP)—The American freighter Selwyn Eddy, wallowing in a heavy sea, 20 miles southeast of Fenwick Island lightship with a disabled rudder, today sent a radio call for help.

A message from Philadelphia navy yard to the coast guard station here advised of the vessel's plight and a cutter prepared to go to her assistance.

A later message from the Eddy said the steamer George H. Jones was standing by to render aid if needed, any immediate danger. Fenwick Island lightship is off the Maryland coast, 40 miles south of the Delaware capes.

Thames Has Double Ebb

It is a rare thing that an interesting happening entirely escapes the eye of the press, but recently such an event was unrecorded: London river, the river of the empire, enjoyed a double ebb and flow of its tide and no one said a word about it. Such a manifestation is certainly a curious one and not always explainable. But before the Thames was embanked, its vagaries in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries were pretty frequent, for in 1658 it ebbed and flowed twice in three hours, and in 1662 three times in four hours—a sergeant-major's allowance which has never been surpassed. And some old chronicler has left an account of the quite unprecedented freakishness of London river one winter day in 1641, "a wonder," he confesses, "that all things considered, the oldest man never saw or heard the like."—Manchester Guardian.

COURT MARTIAL OF COL. MITCHELL COST $35,000

THE JUDGE ADVOCATE OF ARMY TELLS HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

DURING CONSIDERATION OF THE ARMY SUPPLY
BILL

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The court martial of Colonel William Mitchell which lasted 51 days cost the government more than $35,000. Major General John A. Hull, judge advocate of the army, told the house appropriations committee during consideration of the army supply bill.

Hull said the trial expenses were so high that it appears likely that the war department will be forced to request a deficiency appropriation. The finance department is making an attempt to pay the bills out of unexpended funds for other branches.

Old Mills Electrified

The sentimental battle waged by old residents of Holland to have their historic windmills preserved, because modern machinery was making such inroads, has won out. A number of old mills in Holland, instead of being torn down and replaced by modern machinery, will be retained in their present appearance, but electrified so that they may be made more efficient. The promoters of the electrification project gave in to the petitioners when it was brought to their attention that the windmills were beautiful relics of old Holland.

The Inspired Composer

Professor Phelps tells the Boston Transcript that when he was a boy he set type on a religious journal. One day, in the column "Ministers and Churches," there appeared in the proof "Lillian Russell will wear tights this winter." How it got there, no one knew. The editor crossed out the line and wrote "such is life!" on the margin. When the paper appeared it contained among the news of the clergy, the item about Miss Russell, followed by the editorial comment "such is life!"

ment in prosecuting anti-trust cases is apparent," King said. "The federal trade commission under its present personnel has ceased to function and ought to be abolished."

"The most important question today is this megalomania of giantism," King said. "All these big mergers are merely an indication of the movement of industry and economics so as to concentrate the property of all commodities in a few mammoth organizations. These corporations will float stock issues and the greater part of the money that finances them will be taken from the gullible public."

"There will be a manipulation of stock, like the recent Dodge Bros. affair when Dillon, Read & Co., a Wall Street house, made $90,000,000. The people are being fooled. The controlling and voting stock will be retained by the men who run the corporations and by skillful advertising and adroit propagandizing, the rest will be unloaded upon the people."

King also advocated abolition of the tariff commission, saying it had fallen into disrepute under its present personnel.

CLAIM DID NOT BREAK THE LONG AND SHORT HAUL PROVISIONS

2 ROADS GET POSTPONEMENT OF THEIR CASES UNTIL FEB. 17

Minneapolis, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Representatives of the Northern Pacific, Soo Line and Omaha railroads appearing in Hennepin county district court today pleaded not guilty to indictments returned Tuesday charging the three lines, together with the St. Paul and Minneapolis & St. Louis roads with violation of the long and short haul provisions of the Cashman distance tariff.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis and the St. Paul roads, both in the hands of receivers, asked for and were granted postponement of their cases until Feb. 17, because of a question as to jurisdiction of the Hennepin county court.

B. W. Scandrett, speaking for the roads pleading not guilty, said: "We are not afraid to try the cases in court. The rates charged are pursuant to an order of the interstate commerce commission." He was uncertain whether the roads would waive jury trial and whether they would challenge the constitutionality of the Cashman law, which is a state measure prohibiting discriminatory freight rates.

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Purchase of 1,000 50-foot automobile freight cars was announced by the Northern Pacific railway today. The purchase is regarded as one of the largest for improving traffic freight shipments ever made by a northwest railroad. W. R. Capron, freight traffic manager for the Northern Pacific, made the purchase on authority of the road's executive department.

The total cost of the new rolling stock equipment will aggregate $2,600,000, Mr. Capron said. Each car will be of 50 ton capacity and of a type similar to that developed by the road's freight and mechanical departments.

ARE NOT GUNNING FOR COMR. LANDIS

AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUB OWNERS ENDORSE LANDIS

SOME THINK NATIONAL LEAGUE OWNERS TOOK A SLAP AT THEM

MISUNDERSTANDING RESULTED AFTER DECEMBER MEETINGS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 4.—Resenting the inference that they are out gunning for Commissioner Landis, American League club owners will endorse the present administration of baseball the next time they get together, it was learned today.

Some of the American League magnates think the National League owners took a slap at them, by passing a resolution at their schedule meeting endorsing the commissioner and suggesting a new 10 year contract for him when the current contract expires next year.

"That makes it look like we are against the commissioner or the present form of government, but such is not the case. We are quite sure the commissioner knows our league is with him," a prominent club officer said today.

Some misunderstanding resulted after the December baseball meetings when it was learned the American League had given Ban Johnson an extension of his contract and a big boost in pay as the league's president. It was looked upon as a delicate way of telling Johnson they were sorry for the bawling out they had given him the previous year when Landis said the advisory committee was not large enough for Johnson and him. Johnson was then removed from the commission and given a verbal spanking. It is now apparent Landis wants to remain on the job after his contract expires next year. There are not many $50,000 a year jobs hanging around for the plucking, but there is a lot of grief connected with the office of commissioner if the holder wants to worry about them.

The commissioner indicated here this week, however, that he might accept a continuation of his contract.

Venners and Halseth, played a fast passing game and Kiewell played a fine game at guard.
The game was rough in many spots, and was a hard game to handle. Considering this, Ericsson did a fine piece of refereeing. He is a conscientious official, and though he makes some mistakes, he follows the play closely and calls the plays as he sees them.

Saturday night the Rainbows play the Pine River Pirates at the high school gym, and with last night's game off their chests, they will be ready to tear into that game with the same dash they showed against Duluth. They had already worked themselves out of their lethargy by the last quarter of the game last night, and are ready for meat Saturday. Fans will see a changed team at that time.

In the summary given below, the column shows the number of shots taken at the basket but missed.

Flying Aces 28, Dark Horses 9
In the preliminary contest the Flying Aces romped away with the Dark Horses by a 28-9 score. Bill Heikkinen and Lorry Swanson were the leading aces, the former with six goals and two free throws, and the latter with five goals. Kukko and Fredstrom each made one. Fitzharris played a good game at guard. For the losers, Ray Anderson, with two baskets, Mayo with one, and Lawrenz with one, were the best players.

The Flying Aces are looking for games and may be reached through Joe Fitzharris or Floyd Fredstrom.

METHODISTS GIVE LUTHERANS FIRST DEFEAT, 7 TO 6

MAYO COUNTS TWO GOALS, AND WHITE MAKES WINNING BASKET

GAME HARD FOUGHT, WINNING COUNTER JUST BEFORE WHISTLE

GAMES TONIGHT
7:00—Methodist and Evangelical Intermediates.
7:45—First Baptist and Norwegian-Danish Intermediates.
FRIDAY NIGHT
7:00—Evangelical and Presbyterian Juniors.

The Methodist Juniors last night gave the league-leading Lutherans their first defeat in their games played so far, when they came from behind to score a 7 to 6 victory over them in a furious contest.

The Lutherans led to within five seconds of the whistle, when the lanky White, who played a fine game for the winners, came through with a basket just as the whistle blew for the end of the game.

Wade, center for the Lutherans, made two goals to boost his total to 20 points for the season, while the best Halvorson could do was two free throws. The Lutherans played a good game, but did not seem to have the stamina that the Methodists exhibited.

The Methodists showed themselves to be strong men against odds. In the first meeting of these two teams two weeks ago, they almost won from the Lutherans by scoring three goals in the last half.

Free throws	—	White 1, Halvorson 2.

The intermediate game last night was postponed because of the Rainbows and Blackhawks game at the high school. This game will be played tonight following the Evangelical-Methodist Intermediate game.

The standings of the teams in the Sunday school league, both divisions, are given herewith:

Junior Division
Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Lutherans	4	1	.800
Methodists	3	2	.600
Evangelical	2	2	.500

Mlle. Lenglen Is Winner Playing In Nice Singles

Nice, France, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, France's tennis champion, playing in the singles of the tournament here today defeated Mrs. Aeschlim of England, in two love sets. Lenglen was playing her usual sensational game and easily kept her opponent from winning a game.

Football Captain Out On Account Of Drinking Party

Columbia, Mo., Feb. 4.—(UP)—The expulsion of Pete Jackson, football captain of the University of Missouri, as a result of a drinking party is the talk of the campus today but it is a closed incident so far as can be heard from school authorities. Jackson with two coeds and another student were indefinitely suspended. He had been away from school since the party.

While rumors floated about this morning, Dean Hecket refused to comment other than to say Jackson was out and other school officials only shook their heads.

Jackson is understood to have gone to Joplin, Mo., where he is employed.

B. H. S. GIRLS AND BOYS PLAY CROSBY TEAMS

DOUBLE-HEADER AT THE HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM FRIDAY NIGHT

GAMES ARE FOR BRAINONIAN BENEFIT, ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY

Friday night the girls' team of the high school will meet outside competition at the local gym, when they take on the girls' team from Crosby-Ironton. After their many practice games the girls are in the finest of condition to battle with their opponents.

Miriam Michael and Helen Beggs will be the forwards, Iva Trask is scheduled for the jumping center job, with Kathleen Early as running center, and Alta Storm and Gladys Reuter as guards. With these girls in the line-up, the Crosby girls will have to exert themselves greatly to win the game.

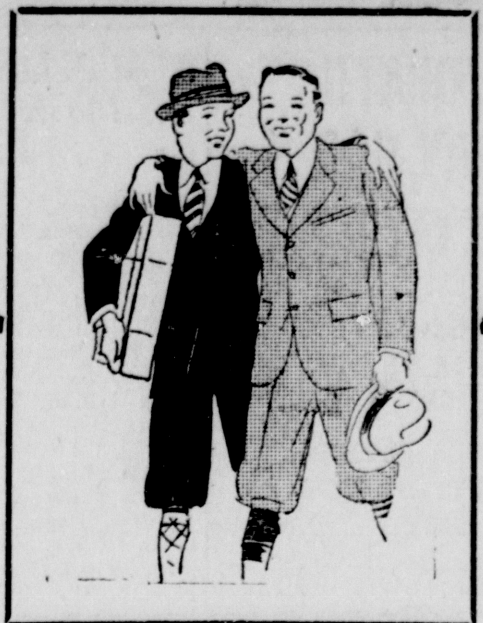

The high school boys' second team will also have a game on Friday. Their opponents will be the Crosby-Ironton seconds. With the scheduling of these two games the fans of the city will have plenty of basketball to give interest over the weekend.

The high school orchestra will play at the games, under the supervision of Miss Cora Rickard. The proceeds from these games will be used for the benefit of the Brainonian, high school annual.

The first team is ready for their game at Pine River with the champions of last year. The line-up for this game will undoubtedly be the same as started against Little Falls last week, which includes Avery and Lawrenz at forward, Marshall at center, and Lowe and Tribur at guard. Others who may see action are DeRoche, Orth and Wise.

The team hopes to break its string of four consecutive defeats, and begin climbing again toward a high percentage in games won and lost. The players are pointing to the district tournament which will start four weeks from tomorrow at Crosby.

Outfitting Boys and Outwitting Extravagance!

This thing we call extravagance is a pretty foxy operator.

If you seek to show it the door by purchasing cheaply constructed—cheaply priced boys' clothing—up it pops a month later—and your son needs another suit.

The sensible and economical way to clothe a boy is in good clothing at reasonable cost—an accomplishment we are known for not only in Brainerd but all over the county.

If you have been paying too much—or too little—or no attention to what we offer—meet us this Spring and let us arrange an introduction for you to meet true economy—in boys apparel!

RAINBOWS DOWN BLACKHAWKS IN SLOW 21-15 GAME

THE PLAY WAS ERRATIC, WITH FLASHES OF COLOR, BOTH TEAMS OFF

BOLLENS, FORWARD, AND HEIKKINEN, GUARD, PLAY BEST FOR RAINBOWS

The Rainbows last night downed the Little Falls Blackhawks in a slow contest, marred by frequent fouling, and by continuous misplays in team work. The score was 21-15. Both teams evidently had an off night, and did not play up to standard.

The local team could not get going. They were likely having one of those nights off that comes to most everyone in sports, when no matter how hard one might try, he cannot do the work. Dieckhaus played hard while he was in the game, but he was guilty of repeated errors, both of judgment and of action, and after two fouls, and as many playing errors in a few minutes, Manager Peterson graciously took him out. Dieckhaus is one of the best guards ever playing here when he is right, but he was way off last night. He will have a chance again Saturday against the Pine River Pirates.

The same may be said of most of the others. Larson came in from a hard road trip just a few minutes before the game, and had little chance to rest or warm up. In spite of it, he played a fairly good game, and counted twice from the field. He mixed in well with the team play. He too is able to do much better, though he was not as much off-color as the others.

Bollens had a good evening, with four goals and one free throw. As a matter of fact, even though he was far from standard, he was the man most responsible for the winning of the game. Beresford played a better game than last time, and tipped in two goals from under the basket, his great height causing a disruption of morale on the part of the Blackhawks when under the basket.

Heikkinen did fine work at guard, going in for Dieckhaus in the first quarter. He kept the Little Falls players at a distance. They counted only two field goals after he went in, both of them back toward the free throw line.

The game looked dark for the Rainbows until the last quarter. Little Falls jumped into the lead at the start, and tenaciously clung to it through most of the game. Not until the last quarter did the Rainbows have a scoring streak, but in that quarter, with the score a tie, they counted four goals, Bollens and Beresford each getting one.

For Little Falls, the two forwards,

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

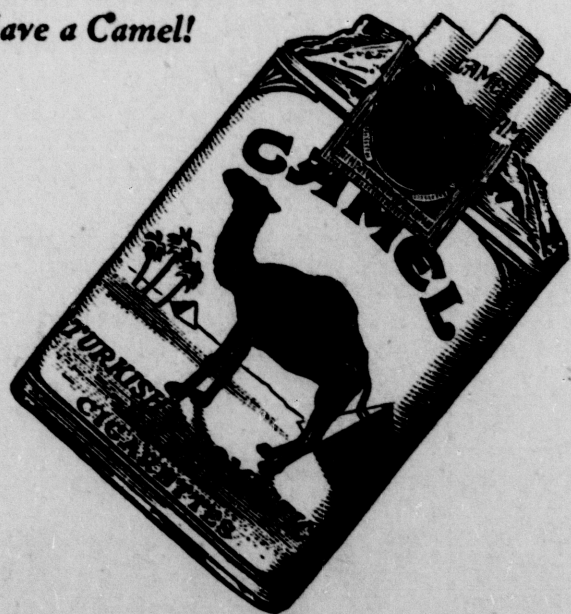

When it's your favorite table at the restaurant—and with merry friends you chatter and feast in festive revel—have a Camel!

WHEN you sumptuously dine at your favorite cafe. And with joyous talk and laughter you taste the tempting things of earth. When with lilting strains of music and the primest of fine foods you feast your friends joyfully—then how welcome is that friendly saying, "Have a Camel!"

For Camel goodness heaps added zest to every festive dinner, shares of its own joyous taste with every delicious flavor. Camels never tire the taste or leave a cigaretty after-taste, because they are the master blend of the choicest tobaccos grown. Regardless of price, no other cigarette made is so rich and fragrant, so smooth and mellowly mild as Camel.

So this night as the famed restaurant grows gay with the sounds of merry-making and revelry. As you claim your own rightful share of the bright joys of living, taste then the flavor, the mellow fragrance of the finest, cheeriest cigarette ever made.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

LIONS ARE ACTIVE IN CIVIC WORK

List of Accomplishments Grouped by
Dr. W. A. Erickson in Address
Given Wednesday

MAJOR AND MINOR WORK DONE

Cub James H. Alderman Presided at Last Meeting, Having Charge of the Entertainment

The Brainerd Lions club met in regular session Wednesday evening with an attendance of 100 per cent. The business session was short. Reports of committees were given, routine business was taken care of, and then the meeting was turned over to Cub James H. Alderman, who had charge of the entertainment.

The program consisted of two soprano solos by Mrs. Mal D. Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland at the piano. The singer was in splendid voice and was loudly applauded.

Cub George Sweet gave a very entertaining talk on "Great Men," ending his talk by introducing "Mr. Grater," himself.

Mrs. J. H. Herbert of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League, gave a fine talk on the needs of Brainerd, bringing out some pertinent facts. Here are some of the points:

The need of a child's bed in the ladies room in the depot. The need of some information regarding the rest room, where located, etc.

The need of toilet facilities in Gregory park.

The need of new industries in the town to offer employment to more men.

Work of the Lions

Dr. W. A. Erickson gave a very interesting address on what the Lions are doing, and recited the following activities, major and minor:

Major Activities

Planned and built a tourist information office on the corner of 6th and Laurel streets, costing approximately $250.00, all of which was donated by the membership of the club.

Organized and fostered the original Brainerd Boy's band and furnished them with $125.00, with which to purchase instruments, keeping them under our wing until they had become self-supporting.

Staged a Young People's Rural Alfalfa growing contest giving away prizes aggregating $100.00.

Served a hot lunch to 76 new American citizens at the court house just after they had received their naturalization papers, the entire expense of which was born by the Lions club, approximately $50.00.

Got out a special edition of Dan's Diary in memoriam of President Harding, containing his favorite songs, about 3,000 copies of which were distributed at the special Harding services in Gregory square where these songs were sung.

Offered and paid two $5 cash prizes to the winners in the local high school girls and boys debating teams and paid their expenses to Little Falls to compete in the district debating contest.

Signed a contract with the Heinz Pickle company guaranteeing them 150 acres of cucumbers in this territory, resulting in their establishing a salting plant in Brainerd. Last year this plant paid out over $20,000 to the farmers of this vicinity.

Opened a country wide lake region publicity campaign with a successful Booster's Banquet at Breezy Point lodge and furnished five large railroad lines with lake and fishing photos for use in their advertising and in addition received several requests for as high as 500 copies of Brainerd literature for distribution to all passenger agents. The possibilities in this work is unlimited and we have only scratched the surface so far.

Some Minor Activities

Raised one "Rural Poor Fund" for Christmas candy and gifts for rural poor—staged two Christmas candy parties with municipal tree for kids, in conjunction with other civic clubs.

Attended 14 Chamber of Commerce meetings in a body.

Sponsored a Sapiro meeting at Chamber of Commerce when Mr. Sapiro organized a unit of the Minnesota Potato Growers association.

Bought several Red Cross Health bonds at $10 each.

Brought the Buxton Boys Band here for a free concert to help promote the spirit for a Boys band at Brainerd.

Staged a minstrel show and two benefit shows.

Bought several books of Chautauqua tickets to aid the Chautauqua.

Put floats in parades.

Held two joint meetings with Rotary club.

Visited the County Sanitarium for Tuberculars twice and put on a musical program for inmates.

Visited the local night school, also the high school.

Entertained entire Little Falls club here four different times and Wadena three times.

And many other activities.

BREDENBERG STORE MAKES ALTERATIONS

Meat Department And Cement Block
Storehouse Added to Southeast Store

IN BUSINESS 30 YEARS

K. S. Bredenberg Bought Out Partner in 1917, Now Has Son With Him in Business

The Bredenberg Grocery Company, pioneer store in Southeast Brainerd, announces the opening today of a meat department in their store. The rear of the store has been considerably altered, a new addition built, and fixtures of the most up-to-date kind installed.

The meat department occupies the rear of the store building, and is in charge of J. A. Barnes, who comes from Nevis to take over this end of the business. Occupying a prominent place in the section set off for the new department is a three door visible Northey ice box. A U. S. slicing machine and a Hobart electric grinder, with a Wood welded cutting block are other pieces of equipment that add much attractiveness to the place. The front of the department is a ten-foot cooler counter, built at Cloquet, and on the counter a white-enameled sanitary scale.

A new addition to the building is a 24x25 cement block storehouse in the rear, with full basement and reinforced concrete floor. The elevator has been removed from its former place in the store proper to the storehouse, to make room for the meat department. Thompson Bros. and Jansen were the contractors for his building, while C. Erickson did the carpenter work, and the alterations in the meat department, setting up equipment, and cutting a side entrance with a big display window.

K. S. Bredenberg started in business in Southeast Brainerd about thirty years ago, first in partnership with two others at the site of the present Scandia Co-operative Mercantile store. A year or two later, he and W. E. Erickson formed a partnership, and conducted the business at 1302 East Oak street, until 1917, when Mr. Bredenberg bought out Mr. Erickson's interest, and has since conducted the store under his own name. A few years ago his son, Melville O. Bredenberg, came into the business with him.

Since purchasing the interest of his partner in 1917, Mr. Bredenberg has constantly sought to add to the store for the accommodation of his patrons. The new meat department is another step in this direction. The second floor of the building was remodelled into apartments some time ago. The store room which had theretofore been upstairs, was transferred to the basement.

The staff of the store now includes seven people. They are Mr. Bredenberg, his two sons, M. O. Bredenberg and Lester Bredenberg, Albert Erickson, Miss Sophie Bikkie, Miss Carrie Erickson, who formerly worked in the store, and comes back after being employed at the Brainerd Co-operative store, and Mr. Barnes, who will have charge of the meat department.

Mr. Barnes has removed to Brainerd with his wife and daughter, and lives at 816 South Sixth street. His daughter, Loretta, has already enrolled as a student at the Brainerd Commercial college.

BAND CONCERT PLEASES HEARERS

Well-Filled House Greeted Boys in Their First Annual Concert

CONCERT REPEATED TONIGHT

"Alabama Smokes" And "Winkem, Blinkem And Nod" Orchestra Are Fine

The concert given last night by the Brainerd Concert band at the New Park theatre was well received by the many present. The house was well filled and appreciated the offerings of the band and their aids.

The comedy presented by the "Alabama Smokes" was exceptionally good. Rowland Jenkins acted as interlocutor, and showed himself proficient at drawing applause.

The "Winkem, Blinkem, and Nod" orchestra created much comment. This orchestra is composed of 11 members, of the age 9 to 10 years. The group played two numbers under the direction of Mrs. Louis O. Johnson. They will play again tonight.

The Arcadian orchestra played in the pit, and was in fine form. They will be on the program again tonight, and will delight their hearers as they did last night.

The Brainerd Concert band, under E. A. Page's direction, gave fine renditions of the numbers they played. This is their first annual concert, and they stamp themselves as a credit to the music-loving public in Brainerd.

The concert is being repeated tonight, the public being invited to attend and help support this organization.

St. Paul—Governor Theodore Christianson was still confined to his home today by an attack of la grippe. Physicians feel the governor will be able to resume his duties by the end of the week.

ARMS PARLEY TO MEET MAY 6

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Informal assurances have been given American Minister Gibson at Berne, Switzerland, by the League of Nations that the postponed preparatory arms commission will meet at Geneva on May 6, Gibson advised the state department today.

Since the holding of the commission on arms meeting depends on the formal election of the league's council, Gibson's message is interpreted here as desiring the election of arms delegations rather than agreement by the entire council.

Mankato, Minn.—Journalists of southwestern Minnesota will meet here Thursday and Friday in the annual session of the second district editorial association.

Ready Money---When It's Time to Pay

Taxes and Insurance Premiums must be paid regularly, but paying them with current funds is often difficult if not impossible.

A better way is to accumulate tax and insurance money in a Savings Account at the Citizens State Bank with deposits made throughout the year.

SOUTHERN FOOTBALL DEVELOPING FAST

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 4.—After seeing a snatch of eastern and southern football and being associated actively with the far western game, Glenn Warner, Stanford coach, believes that eastern football is not as good as the southern or California game.

He expresses the opinion that the eastern game is too conservative and is bound too much by zone rules and precedents.

It is quite true that some eastern teams stick too closely to the old game but such teams as Princeton and Dartmouth certainly cannot be accused of being behind the times.

Princeton has been charged with being too radical by many critics but Bill Roper is a disciple of the theory that it matters little what play wins a game if it does win.

Warner certainly is qualified to express an opinion—and a good one, too—because he has been associated with the game in various sections of the country and he has kept abreast of its development.

He knows, however, that a lot of eastern teams that do not indulge in extremes of the forward pass might do so if the coach had a player who could throw a pass sixty-five yards and another player who could catch it.

Many of the eastern coaches have to pattern their game to the material at hand and if they haven't material suited to a modern open game, they can't go out and get it—on short notice.

The fine victory that Alabama scored over Washington in the Pasadena game will be another stimulant for the game down south—if it needs stimulus. Football in the south has developed more rapidly since the war than in any section of the country and in face of greater difficulties and handicaps.

The development of the southern game may have been due in part to the willingness of southern colleges to send their teams north through a period some time back when a trip promised little more than a beating to the players.

That day is passed, however, and only a few southern teams are booked as early season setups.

The time has arrived when southern football is entitled to demand that northern and western teams agree to home-and-home arrangements in booking games.

With the exception of Penn State and Notre Dame, very few northern teams have been willing to go south.

Financial objections no longer stand there are no other reasons why the south cannot demand equal recognition.

New York—John A. Heydler, president of the National league, was working today on several changes necessary on the 1936 schedule. The season will open on April 13, with Brooklyn at New York, Boston in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh in St. Louis and Chicago in Cincinnati.

Athletes From 6 Countries
New York—Athletes from six countries will compete tonight in the Millrose A. A. games in the Garden, the first major meet of the indoor season. Charley Hoff, Norway, Adrain Paulsen, Holland, and Hubert Howen, Genoa are the headline attractions.

CRUIKSHANK TO MEET MEHLHORN IN GOLF TOURNEY

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Bobby Cruikshank and Bill Melhorn, both of Chicago, meet this morning to play off for a tie for the honors in the South Open Golf tournament. At the end of play yesterday both had scores of 285. Melhorn furnished the sensation of the day when he turned in scores of 69 and 71.

MacDonald Smith, New York, was only one stroke behind the two leaders with 286.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION RULES UNIFORM

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Uniform methods of operation and standard rules for cow testing associations were discussed here today by A. J. Cramer, before the cow testing association's conference at the University of Wisconsin's annual Farmers' and Homemakers' week, being held here this week.

Cramer recommended that a uniform testing period such as is used in Denmark and Sweden be adopted by the United States and that each herd should be given one day of the calendar month to be regarded as testing day for that herd.

FRANCO HOPS OFF FOR NEXT LEG OF FLIGHT

By JOE ANJELLO
United Press Staff Correspondent
Pernambuco, Feb. 4.—Commander Ramon Franco, resuming his Spain-Buenos Aires flight, hopped off from here before daylight today for Rio de Janeiro.

Starting at 5:15 a. m. he expected to make the 2,035 kilometers (1,263 miles) to Rio de Janeiro before 6 p. m. a message from Macao said Franco passed over that city at 6:30 a. m.

Meantime Rio de Janeiro advices indicated that Franco might run into bad weather reported from the Ithos group of islands.

The cruiser Afredo proceeded to Rio de Janeiro this morning, while the Blas de Leso also has been a sort of outpost along Franco's trans-Atlantic plans to return within two days to Spain.

Franco was not deterred, however, by the bad weather reports and passed Ithos at 10:20 a. m. after flying over Bahia at 9 a. m.

Belmonte, Brazil, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The airplane Ne Plus Ultra, piloted by Commander Ramon Franco, passed over this town at 11:20 a. m. en route to Rio de Janeiro.

With his passage over Belmonte Franco covered practically half of the Pernambuco-Rio de Janeiro trip.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Franco, the Spain-to-Argentina aviator, passed over Caravillas, 450 miles from Rio, at 12:50 p. m. today and was making such good time that he was expected to arrive here before 4 p. m.

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Commander Ramon Franco, Spanish trans-Atlantic flyer, speeding on his way from Pernambuco to this city, was sighted at 5:05 p. m.

Franco started from Pernambuco at 5:15 a. m. today and skirting the Brazilian coast made excellent progress on the 1,263 mile flight, despite early reports of bad weather around Ithos and Bahua.

Rio de Janeiro waited feverishly for him and had many bands and decorations ready for his welcome.

Beaton

The French foreign minister, M. Briand, tells an excellent story of how a friend with a somewhat vitriolic wit scored over a political opponent.

The opponent was criticizing in the chamber of deputies a bill brought in by Briand's friend.

"Which," he declared, "I first read the text of the ridiculous and impossible measure I thought I was becoming mad."

"Becoming!" interjected the wit. "Becoming indeed! How fond the honorable member is of adding unnecessary words."

STINGING BLOW DEALT CHICAGO BY GOUCHNAUER

SPEAKER AT CONCRETE PRODUCTS ASSOCIATION PAYS RESPECTS TO WINDY CITY

CHARACTERIZES LAKE DIVERSION IS UNMISTAKABLE WATER STEAL

Milwaukee, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Chicago, that lawless city, where robbery, murder and crime are rampant, is a city which would "remove a man's foot, replace it with a wooden one, offer to pay part of the cost and consider herself a benefactor."

This stinging rebuke was administered by the "windy city" here by C. O. Gouchnauer, president of the Wisconsin Concrete Products Association which opened a two days' convention today.

"It is hardly necessary to say that we are glad to be here," Gouchnauer told Armistage. "Milwaukee and Chicago are naturally linked in our minds. Milwaukee as the gateway of Wisconsin and Chicago as the gateway of the middle west."

"Chicago, that lawless city where robbery, murder, and crime are rampant, Chicago whose very spirit is typified by her water steal, even as her citizens disregard the rights of others, does she, proclaiming that her need is paramount, steal that which does not belong to her, mixing it with the lesser filth of her city and sending it on down stream as a blessing and benefit for the people below to drink and bathe in."

"Claiming that the lowering of lake levels, which works injury to millions, can be raised by building dams in the natural outlets she says she will help pay for those dams."

"She would remove a man's foot, replace it with a wooden one, offer to pay part of the costs and consider herself a benefactor."

"But Milwaukee without the need of several murders a day to keep her in the limelight, the bulk of her people peaceable, law abiding and industrious, typifies her spirit by the completion of a marvelous sewage disposal system."

FOREST RANGERS AT SHORT COURSE

40 IN ATTENDANCE AT TWO WEEKS' SESSION IN ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—(UP)—A two weeks' short course at the agricultural college, which is to include everything from public speaking to fire fighting, is being attended by 40 of Minnesota's forest rangers.

The course opened this afternoon with an address by W. C. Coffey, dean of the college and a talk by Prof. Henry Schmidt, chief of the division of forestry of the University of Minnesota.

The Rangers are living in a special dormitory prepared for them at the farm school. During their two weeks' course they will do both class and field work.

MILWAUKEE ROAD TO HAVE TICKET OFFICE IN NEW YORK

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today granted to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad receivers permission to rent an office at 475 Fifth avenue, New York, at a sum of $90,000 per year. The building will be used as a ticket and down town office of the road.

SLEEP ALL NIGHT NOW

Says Pennsylvania Man, Not Bothered By Bladder Weakness at Night

A. C. Smith, 41 W. Broad St., Bethlehem, Pa., says, "I now rise in the morning refreshed and feeling fine. Will gladly tell my experience by words or letter." Getting up nights for bladder relief is nature's warning of danger ahead. Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels, driving out abnormal deposits, neutralizes excessive acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 2 cents each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, O. Johnson's Pharmacy.
